LCI APPOINTS TERRI GRIFFITHS AS GENERAL COUNSEL

8th July, 2008 – Aircraft lessor Lease Corporation International (LCI) has announced the appointment of Terri Griffiths as its new General Counsel.

Based in LCI's headquarters in Dublin, Griffiths takes over responsibility for all of the legal aspects of LCI's purchase, finance, leasing and sale transactions, together with all corporate activities globally. She will also work closely with the legal team at LCI's parent company, Libra Group Services, in London.

Griffiths has a rich pedigree in the aviation industry, having begun her career as a solicitor with Denton Wilde Sapte. This gave her extensive professional experience in asset financing with particular involvement in cross-border aviation finance deals both as an advisor and a negotiator.

Her time at Denton Wilde Sapte included long-term secondments to Airbus SAS in Toulouse and to the corporate jet division of Barclays Bank.

Griffiths will report to Crispin Maunder, Chief Executive Officer of LCI, who says: "We're delighted to have recruited someone of Terri's broad experience to join our leadership team, in what is a vitally important role."

Griffiths says: "LCI is an exciting and dynamic lessor and has a clear vision of its future strategy. I am looking forward to working with LCI's seasoned leasing team and to playing a role in its future development."

Only last month LCI announced the order of six new Airbus A330-300 aircraft powered by Rolls-Royce Trent 700 engines, to be delivered in 2009 and 2010. The aircraft, worth $1.2 billion at list prices, are to be placed on operating leases with Singapore Airlines.
